Move In

GILLIAM DORM

Washington and Lee embraced the arrival of the freshman class of 2002 with both hope and exhilaration as the once-quiet streets of Lexington came to life on move-in day. Early in the morning, cars waited in front of the BDG quad for their turn to begin unloading, while the doors to the dormitories remained open for students to move personal belongings into their new homes.

The unusually warm day made moving in somewhat uncomfortable, especially for those that needed to climb innumerable flights of stairs, lugging cinder blocks and heavy trunks. From registration lines to the lines at the computer help tent, students stood baking underneath the sun. Names and faces blurred before the day was through. Nevertheless, the Freshman Orientation Committee welcomed the incoming class with reassuring smiles and helped in any way they could.

Roommates and hallmates made their first apprehensive hellos in the midst of unpacking and rearranging. In between the welcome, tours, and orientations, parents made quick stops to Wal-Mart for some last-minute necessities.

As the day came to a close, the streets began to empty and the earlier commotion eased into an anxious interim. As families departed, the class of 2002 came into their own. For many, tears and emotional farewells awaited. For all, the coming night signaled the beginning of a new life at Washington and Lee.

Homecoming

Homecoming Weekend 1998 continued the tradition of being one of the biggest party weekends of the year. The October weather proved wonderful, as students, faculty, and alumni gathered at the Liberty Hall ruins for tailgating. Although the football team fell to Randolph Macon, the weekend was quite successful and enjoyable. The SAB offered a fabulous concert on Friday night featuring God Street Wine, while Saturday was packed with cocktail parties and great bands at the fraternities. Congratulations to Anna Lowden, who won the honor of being crowned 1998 Homecoming Queen by the ever-so-popular skydivers.

Parents

Parents' Weekend: Three days in October to show Mom and Dad the best of what W&L and Lexington have to offer. Take them tailgating. Show them the party scene. Make them bring you to Wal-mart to stock up on the essentials. If you're brave, let them come to class with you. Maybe then they'll believe you when you try to explain it's the professor's fault you never made it to that 8AM class...

Parents' Weekend is the first chance for most freshmen to meet up with the family since September and to calm any fears the 'rents might have about college life. For upperclassmen, it's a fun opportunity to find out exactly why your friends act the way they do.

Halloween

The Halloween spirit could be felt throughout campus this October thanks to the Chi Omegas who decorated the Hill with carved pumpkins. The Co-op ladies also spread the excitement by dressing as witches and handing out candy. Lexington children paraded the streets seeking sweets while the Thetas, for their anual witch watch project, made sure that no trouble was raised. Thanks to the SAB, W&L students got dressed in costume to hear Jupiter Coyote at Zollman's . It was quite an interesting night as the costumes ranged from the Backstreet Boys to guys in tu-tus.

Christmas

Weekend

Definitely one of the wildest weekends of the year, Christmas weekend gave frats another good reason for a party. Set on the last weekend before finals, the short respite from studying was well worth it. Students welcomed any diversion from studying, and, with an abundance of cocktail parties, a Gran Torino concert at the Pavilion, Secret Service playing at the Lenfest center, a presentation of A Taste of Cherry by the Film society, and a special 250th basketball tournament, finding reason to go out was not difficult. As the final celebration of the term, Christmas weekend allowed everyone to escape from the cramming-induced frenzy characteristic of finals week if not just for a little while.

Women's Rush

Kappa D
Kap Del

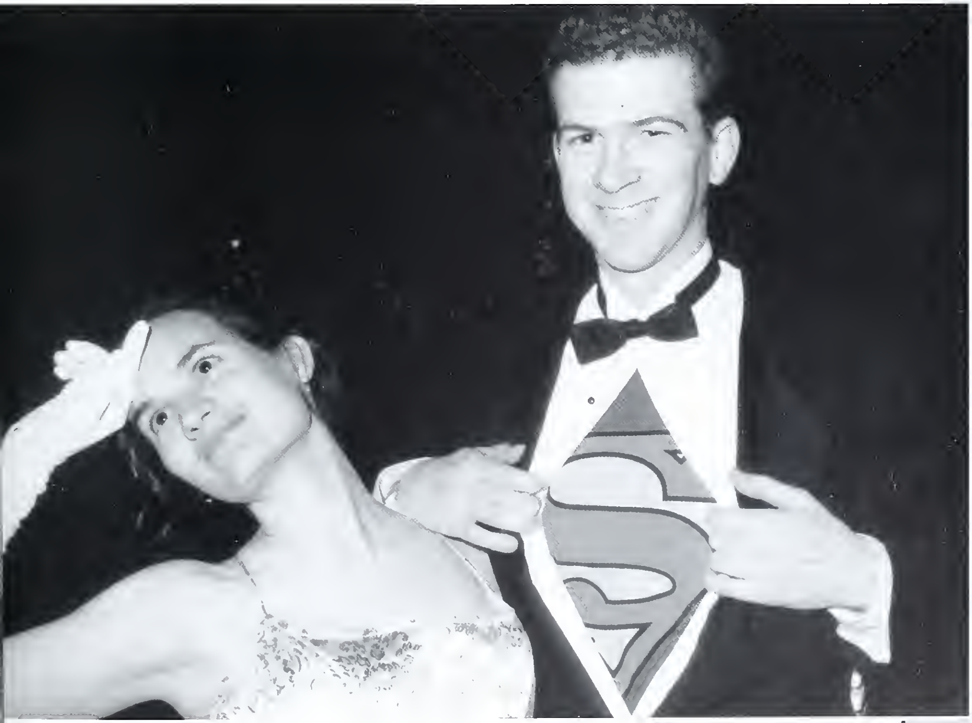
Once again, the freshmen girls spent four nights in the University Center during rush. The first night was Philanthropy Night. This was the first year of having philanthropy in rush and it was a huge success. At each different sorority the girls did all kinds of arts and crafts for the community. From making cancer awareness ribbons to painting t-shirts, Philanthropy Night offered a variety of fun and rewarding activities.

The second night of rush was Skit Night and it proved to be as hilarious as always with the actives dressed in costume and acting as various characters, such as David Letterman. Wednesday night was Sisterhood Night where the older members spoke about what it truly means to be a sister, and Thursday night was Pref Night.

This past fall the ground breaking ceremony for the new soroity houses took place next to the tennis courts. The houses are scheduled to be completed by the fall of 2000. So next year's freshmen could be the first sisters to live in the houses.

Fancy Dress

The theme of this year's Fancy Dress Ball took the Washinton and Lee community back to the medieval times. The Doremus Gymnasium and the Warner Center were transformed into a castle with an elaborate banquet scene and king and queen size thrones, thanks to Calder Britt and her helpful Fancy Dress construction crew. Masks were handed out to all ball-goers and some daring souls dressed in full medieval attire. The festivities began with a Black Crowes concert on Thursday night at the Pavilion. The ball kept everyone entertained on Friday night, and Saturday night was filled with crazy fraternity house parties until the wee hours of the morning. After experiencing this year's amazing Fancy Dress Ball, one can only imagine how fantastic Fancy Dress 2000 will be!



Lenfest Productions

The audiences were large and, in some cases, overflowing as the performing arts drew more than 30,000 patrons into the seats of Lenfest this year. Completing its eighth full season, the Lenfest Center for the Performing Arts once again showcased talented performances from not only W&L faculty and students, but also world renowned entertainers. Indeed, in addition to the Theater and Music Departments' productions, the season boasted artists such as the The Russian National Ballet, The Acting Company, The Canadian Brass and The Berlin Philharmonic Woodwind Quintet.

Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead kicked off the Theater Series, followed by Secret Service, Eccentricities of a Nightingale and, around the end of March, the five student-directed One-Act Plays. Several times during the year, recitals by faculty and students, the University Symphony and our celebrated a capella groups graced the stages of Lenfest. Nevertheless, it was the Broadway musical Candide that served as a capstone to an amazing run of shows, bringing both Theater and Music talents together onstage.

Lenfest's director, Michael Gorman, considered this year to have been, if anything else, characterized by learning and discovering limits, given the staff, room and time available. In fact, sold-out performances of Carmina Burana presented by the Music Department set a record with the number of performers it needed on stage. In any case, audiences look forward to another quality season of the performing arts.

Speakers

1999 proved to be a banner year for guest speakers on campus. From the 250th observance to the Mock Con spring kickoff, students could find lectures on almost any topic. Keynote speakers included everyone from MTV's Kennedy to the famed poet Maya Angelou. Alumnus Tom Wolfe commenced the 250th reunion weekend, while Republican presidential candidate Lamar Alexander addressed the student body at the Mock Convention 2000 kickoff. The diversity among these speakers provided the W&L community with an array of ideas as well as helped celebrate the school's 250th year.

Parties

This year the work hard, play hard tradition continued at W&L. Actually, there was even more playing thanks to all of the 250th celebrations.

At least three nights a week, music from the fraternity houses could be heard across town (which oftentimes brought noise violations along with it). In addition to the typical DJ parties, there were also some special weekends. The Sigma Chis had their Sweethearts Ball at The Homestead and the SAEs had their annual Virginia Beach Weekend. Phi Kap celebrated 100 years as Beta welcomed us all to the jungle. Phi Delt celebrated over alumni weekend and there was always late night at Chi Psi.

Then there were mixers where it is always proven that people in costume can get a little out of control now and then. From Chi O with their Headbangers' Ball and Anything for Money with Kappa, the sororities combined with the fraternities to make this one of the best party years ever!

Graduation

With its 250th year drawing to a close, W&L threw one more celebration filled with banners, speeches, and traditions, this time to honor the Class of 1999. With the country's "most beautiful campus" as a backdrop, this year's graduates accepted their authentic sheepskin diplomas from President Elrod in the company of family and friends. History Professor Lamar Cecil and Senior Class President Mandy Stallard provided the inspirational and sentimental words that brought four years of college life to an end for another class of W&L graduates. The next time they return to Lexington it will be as alumni, but no one will forget their days as students. From orientation to exams with countless parties, all-nighters, date functions, and friendships in between, the Class of 1999 left a unique mark on W&L that will never be forgotten. As this year's seniors said goodbye to each other, the rest of W&L' said goodbye to them as students, but more importantly as friends, and wished them the best of luck in the "real world," no matter how long it takes fo them to find it.

Local Hot Spot Closes

The date will live in W&L infamy, August 30, 1998. That night, Lexington's popular Staircase restaurant closed.

The owners, Sam McArthur and Linda Reed, unable to negotiate a rent agreement with their landlord, decided to close their business.

The closing of the bar and grill, where pictures of W&L students adorned the walls and fraternity banners hung from the rafters, left some students surprised, some bereaved and some out of a job.

"I was sad to see it go," senior Andy Scott said. "I had worked there since my freshman year, and I was hoping to enjoy my senior year there."

El Puerto, a Mexican restaurant, opened in the location at the Nelson Street and Lee Avenue corner in the spring.

Washington and Lee, I applaud you. With bold white letters and rayon cloth the Colonnade tastefully proclaims that we were founded on the basis of learning. Excellent.

What a way to distinguish us from other schools founded on things like "fallacy," "error," and "Copernicism." At least these hot air balloon remnants didn't read, "work hard, play hard."

On the upside, second floor students now have the opportunity to grab a pen, dig it in and slide Pirate-style down to take a quick break from learning and pursue something else.

Like all the Vassar art students that will visit thinking we were visited over the summer by the Christo fairy. Maybe if we get lucky these banners will blow down like Christo's did and maybe take out a jogger or Veemie.

What's next? Library strippers with "bicenquinquagenary" written on their bosoms. B&G go all the way, sell the Singer, buy back the lawn clippers, and let's have some hedge animals.

Hey, there's a place on Route 11 that sells lawn flamingos.

Chapel Renovation

Lee Chapel, home to the tomb of Confederate general and University president Robert E. Lee, received a $1.5 million face-lift in time for the 250th Celebration.

An October rededication ceremony, headlined by Virginia Gov. Jim Gilmore, marked a new beginning for the museum, as Patricia Hobbs, the new director of the Lee Chapel and Museum, took over the post held Capt. Robert Peniston.

The year-long renovation, finished in May 1998, completely revamped the downstairs museum. Outside, new landscaping and a cobblestone visitor's parking lot, complete with University crest in the brick work, were added.

The Chapel, a National Historic Landmark since 1961, remains one of Lexington's most popular tourist attractions with 55,000 visitors a year.

Students Steal Cars, Phis

Former student Ellen Elliott is being charged with felony grand larceny in the theft of 1,500 copies of the Oct. 12 issue of The Ring-tum Phi. The issue had a front-page story about Elliot and fellow former sophomore Stephanie Fortener's arrest for felony unauthorized use of a vehicle.

On Monday, Oct. 12 at about 4 p.m., 1,500 of the 2,000 issues of The Phi were taken from the University Center before distribution to the campus.

Director of Security Mike Young said he saw a car illegally parked behind the gym near Gaines dormitory and found 25 copies of the missing Phi lying on the front seat floorboard.

In an attempt to recover the stolen papers,Young had the car towed and told the towing company not to release the car until after he questioned the owner.

Young said that when he confronted both women, they admitted to their involvement in the papers' disappearance, but, Young said, "they didn't think they'd stolen 1,500 copies."

Young said the women told him they put the missing papers in a dumpster behind Frank's Pizza and Subs on Nelson Street. When ordered to retrieve the papers, they found the trash had already been picked up.

When asked how the school would handle the incident, Young said, "When they stole the papers, they were no longer students at the school."

He said the case would be handled by the Lexington Police Department and not by any W&L disciplinary committee.

To ensure the story could be read, The Phi printed another 1,000 copies to replace the stolen papers. The cost to print 1,500 copies of the Phi is approximately $300.The Commonwealth of Virginia classifies theft of over $200 in goods as felony grand larceny.

Greeks Clean Up Area

One November weekend, 200 fraternity men and 30 sorority women tackled local trails, removing fallen branches from the remote Saint Mary's Wilderness Area and clearing litter from Goshen pass.

The fraternity-wide effort to improve community trails was drummed up by fraternity presidents, IFC president Mikel Parker said.

The maintenance efforts are sorely needed on the Saint Mary's Wilderness Area where the trail is littered with tree falls and branches, Outing Club director Nick Tatar said.

"(Saint Mary's) hasn't been cleared since the blizzard of'96," Tatar said, adding that the Forest Service is overloaded with work. AThe reason (the project) is so great is that it will be the first major trail clean up ... in the past seven years."

Originally, the trail maintenance project was to be a one day project focusing on the wilderness area. But with the overflow of volunteers, the project expanded to two days and two trail sites.

"This is a huge group Greek effort," Chi Psi president Reed Kuhn said. "It is a chance to give back and improve our recently tarnished Greek image."

Students Celebrate 250th

The 250th Observance Committee broke out the bubbly for the Bicenquinquagenary celebration in November.

The Student Activities Board sponsored Widespread Panic in the Pavillion Friday, Nov.12 to kick off the weekend's event. The Bicenquinquagenary Ball, featuring bands General Johnson and Chairmen of the Board, was held in Doremus Gymnasium on Saturday, Nov. 13.

"The idea was to keep it simple. We didn't want the Ball to overshadow or compete with FD, while keeping it a fitting and enjoyable event" Neil Penick said.

And like FD, much of the planning for the Ball has been accomplished by students. Three years ago, Wes Armstrong, Greta Richter and Nate Tencza began meeting with the 250th Planning Commission and presently head the student committee. According to Tencza, the committee's job was to generate enthusiasm in the student body for the 250th celebration as a whole.

Fraternities hosted cocktail parties before the event. How ever similar the Ball seems to FD and other school formals, the celebration had its own style.

"It's a different thing—a schoolwide thing— and unique to us. The band is fantastic and the small gym will be set up differently, similar to the way FD used to be. The student committee was designed to make the Ball fun, and I think we've succeeded," Tencza said.

Dean McCloud Retires

Associate Dean of Students Anece McCloud is retiring after 14 years at Washington and Lee.

McCloud came to 1985, entering with the first class of undergraduate women. When she was hired, she became the director of minority affairs. This title was abolished over time, she said, in part because of McCloud's desire to portray the office as one that was available to all students.

Her position, in addition to advising "non-traditional students," such as minority and international students, included acting as University Mediator and providing study skills program.

After a search, a committee selected Associate Dean of Admissions Courtney Penn to suceed McCloud. He will take over Aug. 1, 1999. McCloud said she and her husband will retire to Arizona.

Generation Gap

By Megan Carleton and Lauren Weedon

Freshmen are dorks. We can tell because their answering machine messages suck. The following are actual messages, with only minimal exaggeration.

For example: "Hey. This is Slick. You know the drill. (BEEP)" Or this: "Hello, you have reached Ernest's dormitory room. I am either out partying or out studying. But regardless, please leave your name, telephone number, the time you called, and a brief message including your social security number, your astrological sign, and your GPA at the tone. (BEEP)" Or the activist message: "Hey guys, thanks for calling. I'm either out saving the whales, petitioning for women's rights, tying myself to a large oak, eating nuts and twigs at the Blue Heron, or just embracing my fellow man. Please leave your number because your call is important to me even though I am busy saving the world. (BEEP)"

Campaigning seems to be the pastime of choice for this class. Stickers were the big accessory at Parent's Weekend cocktail parties. While getting a drink at the bar, I even had the pleasure of meeting a campaign manager!

Some freshmen were worried about dirty campaigning as well. An anonymous freshman expressed great concern over the possibility of candy bribing going on behind closed doors.

One campaigner is reported to have visited a girls' hall several times in his attempt to drum up votes. He wasn't even trying to score!

Tragedy Strikes Class of 2002

Freshman Jonathan Nabors died in a 15-vehicle pile-up on Interstate 81 while returning to school from his home in Alabama Jan. 3.

The van carrying the Nabors family ran into an over-turned tractor trailer that had lost control on the icy road near Natural Bridge.

Jonathan's sister, Leah Marie, 15, also died in the accident.

The accident, one of the worst in the history of I-81, killed four and injured over 30.

About 8 a.m.,Virginia State Police Sgt. R.A. Black arrived on the scene of a minor accident between a tractor trailer and two cars.

Black's patrol car was parked on the shoulder, when a tractor trailer slammed into it car and then hit the other cars. A chain reaction followed. Other drivers could not see the wreck ahead because of fog.

Black said that the wreck was "really a disaster you can't prepare for."

Elrod Fights Kidney Cancer

University President John Elrod successfully underwent surgery to remove a cancerous kidney Jan. 7 at New York Presbyterian Hospital.

Dr. Darracott Vaughan, a 1961 W&L graduate and head of urology at Cornell University, performed the surgery and and said it went as anticipated.

Elrod was first diagnosed with a transitional cell carcinoma in his right kidney at the Augusta Medical Center. He sought a second opinion from Dr. Vaughan, who confirmed the early diagnosis. Though Elrod was first diagnosed in early December, he made no formal announcement of his condition until a Jan. 4 faculty meeting.

"His presentation of his condition was very factual," said German professor Kirk Follo. "It was done with a lot of dignity."

Elrod received support from faculty and students upon his return from New York. After the surgery, he underwent chemotherapy as an additional precaution against any further developments. As a sign of solidarity, the faculty donned baseball caps at their regular meeting. Professor David Parker of the history department, went so far as to shave his head in support of Elrod.

High GPAs for Freshmen

The Class of 2002 got off to a good start with a GPA of 2.99, the highest fall term GPA for freshmen in the last five years.

"We have an exceptionally bright group of students," said Dean of Freshmen Mark Dalhouse.

He commended dorm counselors and faculty advisors for the efforts at providing academic counseling for the freshmen.

"Many students find their first term of college the most difficult," he said. "Freshmen should benefit from the new study skills program, tutoring lists and peer mentoring program which started last fall term."

Dean of Students David Howison said the Class of 2002 were very similar to theprevious three classes They maintained the high level of social involvement and student leadership seen in the last three years, Howison said.

Juniors Compile 95 Theses

Two juniors are preparing W&L's equivalent to Martin Luther's 95 Theses.

William Kanner and Roshni Nirody surveyed students students about what irks them most about W&L.

"The goal of the 95 theses is two-fold," Kanner said. "We want to show what needs to change, and then to address how to resolve these issues."

Kanner and Nirody said there was a good amount of overlap in the answers. The most common gripes around campus include the Greek system, hazing, recycling, diversity and career opportunities.

Kanner came up with the idea for the project because he said he has a few complaints to bring up with administration. As he talked with other students, including Nirody, he realized that he was not alone in his thoughts.

"I realized they overlapped with a lot of people," he said.

Nirody said that their interviewing process they found many had deep-rooted sentiments about the university and its policies.

"People volunteer their emotions quite freely, e.g. pounding tables, crying during the interviews and getting really angry," she said. "When we are editing we try to pull the constructive comments out of what they said and downplay the emotion."

Angelou's Visit

"When it looked like the sun wasn't going to shine anymore, God put a rainbow in the clouds."

Wearing a blue-print turban that made her six-foot height even more impressive, a thick necklace of six tear-shaped stones and wearing a ring showing a silver bird with outstretched wings, Maya Angelou strode onto the stage of Lee Chapel and began to sing.

Looking back were the members of the packed Chapel crowd, each of whom had waited in a long line to get a prized seat. Others not so fortunate looked on from broadcast sights across campus.

In her speech, "a medley of poetry, song, story, words of wisdom and comedy," Angelou spoke of hope in the meanest, most dreary of times. That hope, Angelou said, is a rainbow in the clouds.

"I was moved by the power of her words," Contact president Jason Hahn said. "Dr. Angelou's effect on those in the audience was incredible. I had many people tell me they felt she was speaking to them personally during her performance."

Without looking at the page or putting on her thin, black-rimmed glasses, she recited both her own poetry and that of other great writers. Angelou performed at times with animated joy and at others with the expression of deep sorrow. With her rich, low voice cadencing through the chapel, Angelou gave her interpretation of Edgar Allen Poe's poem, "The Raven."

Angelou encouraged students in the audience to devour poetry. She said that poetry's power is the hope it contains and its ability to move humans through hard times. "There comes a time when you will need something that you must pull up. I would call you to look at poetry," she said. "It will put scars on your backbone."

Case Raises Questions on Honor System

Approximately 65 students attended an Executive Committee meeting February 8 to show their disapproval of a recent EC decision finding sophomore Richard Balzer guilty of an Honor Violation.

According to an EC bulletin posted just one hour after the meeting, a member of the student body withdrew from school after he was found to have knowingly avoided his obligation to pay for his meals.

At the beginning of the meeting EC president Beth Formidoni said no details of the case could be discussed because of the policies outlined in the White Book.

"I presume that your are in disagreement with our verdict, but we cannot address your concerns at this time," EC President Beth Formidoni said. "We are not able to discuss the facts of this case at all."

The audience then participated in a question-and-answer session with the EC that became heated at times. Most of the comments and questions concerned the secretive nature of the EC and the accountability of its members.

"We all know how damaging rumors are and how they spread, it is very easy to rush to judgement and not know all the facts," freshmen EC representative Charlie Miles said. "The only people who know all of the facts are the 13 of us. I appeal to you not to rush to judgement unless you know all the facts."

Formidoni pointed out that only the accused could open the case to the public by bringing it to an open trial. Balzer withdrew from school instead of taking his case to an open trial.

"The closed hearing alone was the most emotionally shattering experience of my life," he said. "I wouldn't subject myself or my girlfriend, who was a key witness, or any other of the witnesses on my behalf to that process on a grand scale."

Debate Spurs Candidates

Seven undergraduate students and one law student ran for Executive Committee president during the Spring Term. The increased number of candidates seemed to show a renewed interest in the EC.

Apathy is one of the major problems seen during campaign time, EC Vice-President Wen Hutchinson said. Last year, only the positions of president and vice-president were contested. The controversy surrounding an EC honor trial is the main reason for the increased concern about the EC's workings, he said.

Several candidates also felt the increased interest stems from the controversy, and several indicated they would not have run for the position otherwise.

Many of the presidential candidates indicated their desire to reform the EC, hoping change will benefit the student body. While nearly every candidate wants the student body to be more informed about EC activities, each proposes different means to achieve this goal. Several provided means to do this in their speeches and others did so in interviews.

Let it Snow

After an unseasonably warm winter, students awoke March 15 to the pleasant surprise — school was cancelled.

According to Director of Communications Brian Shaw, President John Elrod canceled school for the day after evaluating the weather.

Considering the hazardous driving conditions those living outside the city, Elrod made his decision at about 7 a.m.

"In view of the accident [on I-81] in January, the president thought it better to err on the side of safety," Shaw said.

The last time school was canceled was during the severe snow storms in January 1996. Virginia Power requested school be canceled in order to save power, Shaw said. Temperatures at the time had dropped to 10 degrees.

Prior to the 1996 blizzard, the last time W&L shut down due to snow was in the early '60's, Shaw said.

Night to Remember

The IFC, Panhellenic, and LIFE joined forces to sponsor "A Night to Remember," a non-alcoholic party open to every student.

"The point of the event is to offer alcohol-free alternatives for students seeking things to do," said Steering Committee member Kelly Sewell.

Along with Sewell, senior John McAllister and juniors Shay Ansley and Anna Parris were LIFE members heading the effor. The Steering Committee held an auction in the gym, and gathered donations to fund it. The grand prize of a Thanksgiving break condominium in Saint Thomas, complemented by airfare from Dulles Airportwas donated by Trustee Ed Bishop. Other prizes include a free tow from Baner, get-out-of-a-parking-ticket-free cards, and a free oil change from a local mechanic.

"We're trying to promote the ideal that it is possible to have fun at W&L in a non-alcoholic setting and look toward the future where several fraternities may be forced to go dry on campus," McAllister said. "This should adjust W&L and help promote the idea that there are... alternatives.'

Spring Time

Ashley Copps and Joe Kerr

Something has been missing from this campus for most of this academic year. Our Colonnade, recognized by students, faculty and nearly everyone associated with this University for its unquestionable beauty, has remained stripped of its most heart-warmingly attractive feature since early in the school year. Majestic red-bricked buildings with awe-inspiring white columns just don't do it for me (especially when the things are covered with that damned white stuff). When it comes to putting a smile on my face, nothing works better than one of the same on someone else's. I hope the day is not too far in the future when our Colonnade is decked with which crazy, happy faces.

A hypocritical grin from someone walking all bundled up in a big jacket and burdened with far too many books isn't the smile I'm looking for. I'm looking for smiles from students so involved in their glee that they don't even notice you and the speaking tradition doesn't even cross their minds. Well, the "Keep off grass" signs are gone. Hopefully that means we can once again enjoy the rich, cool feeling of green grass between our toes. Frisbees, footballs, lacrosse sticks, heat exhaustion, these are the things that make the Colonnade so beautiful. Give me a run-down group of gray and brown shacks with a pick-up game of touch football on a green field. You can have Lee Chapel and Washington Hall.

In any case, if there is a good and loving God, then Spring and warmer weather are coming soon, so students can once again grace the Colonnade with their jovial charm. Freshman who have not yet experienced the splendor of a sunny day on the front lawn will soon realize that Washington and Lee's Colonnade can truly be the most beautiful place on Earth. The difference between stressed-out students walking to their next dreaded class and carefree students running around like wacked-out monkeys on speed is truly remarkable.

I've sensed a cold dreariness cloaking the campus for a while now. This recent bit of nasty weather has dimmed my spirits to do much of anything. I don't know about you guys, but I can only function amidst unpleasant weather for so long. That capuchino in the Co-Op can only keep me going for so much longer. Hopefully with a new lawn and some brighter weather, the whole campus will revive with resplendent ardor.

Alumni Weekend

The biggest party in W&L history was a tremendous success as 3,200 people crowded into tents near the Liberty Hall Ruins over Alumni Weekend. They were joined by 10,000 alums worldwide.

The event included a live broadcast from the Lenfest Center, a video on the history of the school, a dinner for many of those who attended and three bands.

AThis was the biggest thing we=ve ever done... We thought it was nearly flawless. The show came off without a hitch,@ Neil Penick said. AI thought we tried to create a show that is accurate about W&L students today,@ he said. AWe wanted the alums to understand that today=s students follow the same traditions of learning, leadership and honor. We wanted to connect with the alumni and tell them W&L is strong and is still a great place to be.@

Students and alumni enjoyed dancing to the music of The Bo Thorpe Orchestra, Spectrum and Casper.

AIt was a lot of fun, probably more fun than I=ve ever had at FD,@ junior Matt Thurlow said.

Thurlow said the elaborate party was consistent with the spirit of the school that the students and alumni celebrated.

AI think it showed W&L=s true character,@ he said. AWe always want to have the best and biggest parties. It was the biggest party we=ll probably ever go to in our entire lives.@

Another highlight of the weekend was Tom Wolfe=s address on the weekend=s opening night. A 1951 graduate, Wolfe is the renowned author of The Bonfire of the Vanities, The Electric Kool-Aid Acid Test, and a new novel, A Man in Full.

Rehnquist Speaks

J.P. Scurry and Kane

More than 100 prospective lawyers will venture out from the confines of the W&L community this Sunday with a send-off from the top judicial figure in the land.

The Honorable William H. Rehnquist, Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court will deliver the address at the Washington and Lee University School of Law commencement this Sunday at 2:30 on the lawn in front of the Lee House.

Before presiding over the Senate impeachment trial of President Bill Clinton, Rehnquist served as an associate justice of the Supreme Court for 14 years, from 1972-1986. He was named chief justice in 1986 under administration of former President Ronald Reagan. He was appointed by President Nixon as assistant attorney general, office of legal counsel, in 1969.

This marks Rehnquist's second official visit to the W&L law school in recent years. He delivered the keynote address at the dedication of the Lewis F. Powell Jr. Archives in the spring of 1992.

The commencement ceremony will begin at 2:30 p.m. on the lawn in front of Lee House. In the event of rain, the ceremony will be held in the Warner Center.

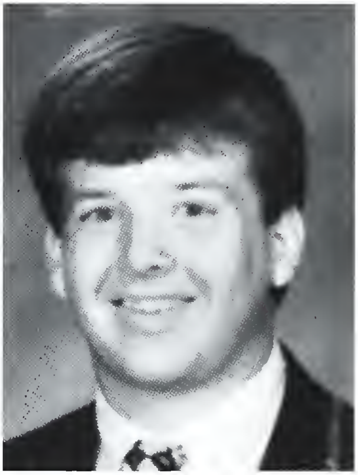
A Tribute to Jonathon O. Nabors



1979-1999

The call came late Sunday night, January 3, 1999. I learned that a few hours before, Jonathon Nabors, a freshman who had just completed his first term at W&L, had lost his life along with his sister in a car accident. As I interacted with his family and classmates over the next weeks and months, it was readily apparent that in his all too brief life Jonathon Nabors left a legacy of love and laughter that brightened the lives of all who knew him. A mentor to a young boy in a Lexington school, a roommate who shared the joys and trials of the freshman year, a beloved son who cheered with his dad at Alabama football games, Jonathon Nabors left behind an example we would all do well to emulate. We miss you Jonathon, and we always will.

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY
Lexington, Virginia 24450-0303

Office of the President
(540) 463-8700

Dear Members of the Washington and Lee Student Body:

This year has been one of the most special in the University's history. Washington and Lee University has now joined a small and select rank of universities which have celebrated a 250th birthday. We have taken time this year to recall our long past and to remember with gratitude its key founding moments and those great individuals who were part of it. We have thoughtfully considered those values and traditions which have sustained Washington and Lee throughout its history and have committed ourselves to preserve them as we step into a new century. We have planned for our future and set goals whose realization in the years ahead will insure a strong and vibrant Washington and Lee for those generations of students who will follow you. In short, this year has been one devoted to memory and anticipation.

The Calyx is, of course, a book about memories too. The memories captured on these pages do not reach back into the long history of the University but are clustered around your own time as a Washington and Lee student. One of the mysteries of time is that its passage often warms our recollections of important events and periods now past. Perhaps this is so because life's experiences help us to appreciate ever more deeply these important moments in our pasts. Certainly, your time at Washington and Lee will occupy a permanent place in your life's story, as it unfolds into the scores of years before you.

This wonderful book will be a reminder of the special and unique place Washington and Lee was for you in your time here. I hope that it will always kindle warm memories.

Sincerely,

John W. Elrod

Outing Club

Another great year for the Outing Club! Appalachian Adventure saw the views from Tinker cliffs, Dragon's Tooth, and Cranberry Falls. They powered up The Priest and Bluff Mt. with fuel from trail pizza. At the house, Katie and Lisa kept things interesting while Dave joined the local militia. Trip leaders endured training at the University Spa, Skylark. Kermit took it with the crew as he learned to give and receive shots in the arm. Skiers enjoyed two trips to Snowshoe while others explored Crossroads and Marshals Cave. The annual break trips to the Everglades and the Smoky Mountains were a success. The first SCUBA trip to Crystal River and blue grotto proved to be a tent-lifting experience. Earth day exploded from the days of Frank Ohla and production of the Outing Club Guidebook began. A monster cleanup with fraternities at St. Mary's was a new statement by the school. See ya outside!

Habitat for Humanity

Habitat for Humanity seeks to provide housing to low income families in Rockbridge County. Most recently we have worked with the Timber Framer's Guild of North America and the VMI cadets to help build the Project Horizon Battered Women's Shelter in Lexington. The shelter provides a place of refuge for women and their children who have been victimized by domestic violence.

rom Reed's Fall Term claim to Speakeasy's final campus tour, Chi Psi's year can be summed up with two words – Social Domination. ealizing this, Nathan (from The Real World) showed up to our annual Margaritaville mixer with Chi O – that guy sucked! A few weeks ter, yet another Homecoming lawn dinner was running smoothly until "some jackass" started yelling "Who's talking?" But Fighting Gravity apped off the night with their best 90 minutes ever. When the 250th Ball rolled around Salty Dog and the Texan found themselves manning e bar once again. Christmas Weekend saved our Fall Term when we realized what a record number of Lodge girlfriends had done to our attiness. After another round of Secret Santas, the Jew finally saw the wonders of Christianity and Hilfigger took his gift all the way to the ospital. With .363, the Lodge record, and an FD date in hand, he felt no need to continue his Santa duties, so the rookie stepped it up … o Santa! Go Santa! He loves all his little children …

After the scare of Fall Term's highest GPA, the Lodge returned to its roots of anti-social, destructive, alcoholic behavior. Following immerly's lead, we brought another 12 to 17 solid guys to the Lodge, with the likes of Suckboy, Buckwheat, Ruprick the Idiot Monkey oy, and a bunch of foreigners … Dieter finally found a little brother! Before allowing these little punks into our circus we held the first North-outh drink off – Yeah South! No one quite remembers Chi Psichotic – let the mayhem begin. FD brought another sketchy lawn party with any champagne-induced human pyramids collapsing to the music of Humunculus. The giant blizzard of '99 set the scene for a rather slippery pledge"-active football game where we tried to kill our only two varsity athletes. And sorry about the lack of Late Nights … but we're broke uess it was worth it).

We kicked off Spring Term with some great croquet tournaments that brought on a lot of strange looks and comments like "Now I've een it all." But when Alumni Weekend rolled around (you think we're sketchy now!) we realized we had to stop wasting Spring Term and art drinking. After passing out and becoming a trash pile, the Phi mistook Thropper for a 40 year old in its quote of the week. But in all riousness, the first Chris Main award was presented and a tree was planted in his honor.

After sparse attendance at Dukes of Hazzard we realized that we had not been promoted to the empty spot in the Big 5. Showing the ew initiates what unity is all about, the Townie and the Jew left Stover, our #1, and the freshman at JMU. Unable to make a decision by imself, the Giant Question Mark first called the Lodge Whore before providing a rescue. And Buffalo Creek. What to say about Buffalo reek … just one giant f#ck up … yeah Cappy! Outside of our Lexington bubble, Ethiopian wars brought back the Great Minshew to aid our demise. And the end of Spring Term brought about the completion of the pledge project … thanks Knezek and Barrett.

The Lodge regretfully says goodbye to the Mad Shitter, the Self-proclaimed Greatest Drinker the Lodge has Ever Seen, the Jew, the Texan, ieter, Stover, Zimmerly, our #1, and the Townie (sort of). Thanks for the memories!

The Phis were truly everywhere this year: On the girdiron "Dick" Ritchey and Chas Chastain captained the Generals to within inches f an ODAC championship; the electric interplay of Matt Jackson and captain Brian Ricketts drew record crowds to W&L basketball games; arry Hill rebounded from a career-ending injury to serve as an assistant coach on the soccer team, and John Grumbine was captain of the restling team. A long time ago, in a Preston Street galaxy far, far away from respectable fraternities...
Episode LXIX

What does one say upon looking back on the past year through Phi Gam goggles? We saw so many amazing, stupid, and amazingly stupid things happen. The year started like it ended -- by losing even more members of the 2000 pledge class; farewell Phantom & Atari! We rebounded from our loss at the beginning of the year with a shagadelic Homecoming party that saw the Penguin put as many holes in the ceiling as Ding-Dongs in his mouth. As the autumn days passed and the "weeks without Burger" count increased, the Fiji played host to many a fine time. Who could forget Parent's Weekend, Heaven and Hell, or the seemingly endless number of tailgate mixers with Kappa -- thanks ladies, see ya again next fall! Phi Gam wrapped up the fall term with Christmas Weekend and another fine gift exchange that witnessed cardboard Texans, go-go-gadget genitalia, and more obscene Ken dolls for Sean.

In the winter term, rush brought the Phi Gam house 16!(no wait, he went Beta)... 15!(nope, he left after the first week)... 14!(oh yeah...let us never SPEak of him again)...12 pledges and one Heggerator. Tear night was, once again, a SMASHING event as FIJI established a new mark for chairs destroyed; kudos Mr. Eddy! Champagnes also sparkled this year, setting yet another new record for most Kappas under our roof at one event. And finally, the biggest event of the winter had to be the 21st birthday of Brother W.I.S. We apologize again to the Palms and its fine ATM machine; we meant it no disrespect. And congratulations to Klimas, for opening up a can of whoopass on Wes.

Unfortunately, this year marks the end of a career for most of our seniors, except Tony who still hasn't passed stats. Brother Genetti and Brother Granger have opted to skip the messy surgery that would detach their hips and go to Martha's Vineyard where they will sit in a hotel room instead of actually going out to the beach. Unfortunately, surgery has become a must for the Three-headed Monster, seeing as Chuck has decided to stick around and graduate. However, Brother Race and Brother Trey plan to rebound and add Brother Tony to the monster. The monster's future plans remain on hold, seeing as Tony still has 5 exams to take and 3 papers to write as of commencement. Brother Button -- excuse me, Sutton -- will continue to colect dust, spit, and be swarthy. Finally Brother George has decided to pass on his many job offers and go pro in foosball.

Well, that's it! See you next year at "Sherman's March to the Sea" party (sorry JT, no KAs allowed).

he 1998-1999 school year proved to be another spectacular one for the Knights of the SNu World Order. All the brothers began the year nthusiastically supporting the South American dictatorial-style rush of Brother Mungus. After picking up Pledges Reptar, Shopkeep, mokey, and Slag Jr. on the first day, everyone contributed to rush in their own particular way: the Doof abided, the Count pooped, Mungus rank, Eyore Jr. fought for a "New" rush, Eyore Sr. fought for the days of old, and the Pelican flew the coop. Brother Hughes showed us ll how mildew can make a fashion statement. Also, although he would later be blinded by Ana, Sexy Bob led Fall Term in total destruction, omplete with donut slinging, door smashing, and composite breaking. All of this was in addition to Fruity Sumo wrestling. After the dust ettled, and the Vultures had feasted, the House ended up with 16 of the pukinest, smokinest, pizza-eatinest pledges ever. Driven by Der urer Poole, assisted by one angry helper monkey, organized by Pledge Coreleone, and inspired by Pledge Brow, the pledge class bumbled rough eight weeks of pledgeship, suffering only minor casualties and deportations. Socially, the term was highlighted by Doug Clark and e Hot Nuts on Tear Night, a White Rose Fireside Chat with the Earl of Portsmith, and Rubenstein Dance Party USA. Gubu's bottom-eeding antics caused the Web to expand in numbers and poundage. Due to the pwethowa of pathetic dwunken idiots, Captain SNu lost is shoes, Pledge Doublewide lost his underwear, and Brother 411 found the answer to the question, "Do pledges have hearts?" Brother ali also lit himself on fire, learned the intricacies of checkbook finance, and fought it out with the Wookie for the hand of La Condescenda. s Winter Term ended, the ever-shrinking junior class allied itself with the Fat Man Conspiracy to sweep the Farrish ticket into office, and apture such important offices as Philanthropy Chair. Spring Term Kickoff allowed the Mack-Aroni to take a brief respite from consulting nd realize that "Drinking is cool." Honor returned to Sigma Nu on Alumni Weekend, although all possible donations to the house had already een spent on booze and whores. We were, however, given an opportunity to think back to the good old days when IMF reigned supreme. hipwreck '99 was also a success, despite the deactivation of "Mr. Cool," Brother Skjellyfetti, possibly due to a bad trip. All this fun did ave a price, though — $4400 to be exact. However, as next year's budget has been approved by the High Council, things are looking up r the future. We even managed to be number one among fraternities for grades, due largely to Brother Hendricks's 587.4 GPA. So, as e year ends, we wish our seniors good luck in getting high paying jobs so as to eventually make reparations for four years of general competence. But, in the end, "You may not be able to tell by looking at us, but we're the best there's ever been." And besides, Jacobs ouldn't possibly get any cooler.

SHUTTLE

The 1998-99 academic year witnessed the ascendency of Sig Ep to unparalleled levels of simultaneous social greatness and thwarted sexual ambitions. Sig Ep tightened its tyrannical asp on the baseball, track, football, soccer, and swimming programs, and witnessed its Lenfest juggernaut continue to sweep aside the theatrical ambitions of all other fraternities.
ll Term was chalk full with Homecoming, Parent's Weekend, the Halloween Blowout, Caveman, 250th, Christmas weekend, and the mixers. With the arrival of the new calendar ar in January, we turned our communal attention towards the cognitively insufficient field of pledges which entered during the rush dates. Their spirits were sadly broken but built them up stronger and more insensitive than they ever could have imagined before their association with Sig Ep. We took brief respites from hazing to entertain our sorority ests, to exchange friendship bracelets and hearty laughter with our Davidson Park neighbors at our Sigma Chi Reconciliation BBQ, and to enter the fray of FD weekend.

The junior class, under the Spartan guidance of Matt Seals, took the reigns of power and began fining everything that breathes. These people, small animals, or Sigma Chis ich remained insolent were subsequently head-butted in ritualized ceremonies. Thompson's leadership proved indispensable as the leader of the Geology Cougars and as the ess Agent for the country residence formerly known as Out House. Billy, in conjunction with Senior Cooper inaugurated the 30-pack Sturday tradition with much fanfare while ant was deflowered in a heinous "below the belt" sex-crime incident. Our most extreme congratulations must be offered to the occupants of the Apartments, whose accelerated llapse of sexuality won us two blue ribbons at country fairs for their sticky buns. Truly, boys, those were wild things! Representing the more forcefully masculine and less intelligent ntingent of the Apartments, Matt Clymer successfully defeated burning platforms at Buffalo Creek, and his own leg hair in the process. The men of Death Valley continued e tradition of the late Eric Guiness with their pool policies; and, in other news, Pete finally got to ride a big roller coaster and Sanducket continued to breathe.

As for the sophomores, Zeke "PIKA Liaison Officer" Roeser lived off the comfort zone of House and Nash-Truax beer, and his roommate Adams was positively identified tually being in the House on five different occasions. Fech got a great car, ruined it, got a new one and also managed to spearhead our IM efforts. Jordan made a mess of love angles as well as the upstairs bathroom while Scurvy entertained all with his considerable musical talents. Truass reigned for a second year as the Anheuser-Busch Investment anager, and Benno as the figurehead of the Universe's severely defunct humor. Fool disappeared (again) in the dead of winter back to the Great White North and Balzer got e big shaft in the other trial of the century. Incense was burned and goats were sacrificed daily by the sophomores in order to gain spiritual sanitation from their iconic leader, e Ultimate SPE Dog George Benson. Pigpen sought professional help for his slight odor "condition" and received proper, though ultimately unsuccessful, medical attention.
nnan reigned as Hazer-in-Cheif and Dirty Juanita ascended the ladder of campus politics to become the University Dictator.

We discovered the shortcomings of our laissez-faire rush strategy this year when we found ourselves invested with sixteen of the least intelligent homo sapiens ever produced m the degrees of human genetics. Fortunately, through the implementation of holy violence their souls were cleansed, though they remained the ugly specimens of disdain hich we fell in love with and bid in the first place. Freshman John "I'm Not A Mexican Immigrant" Power hazed the brotherhood during the pledge period with his severely funny humor while his pledge brethren Rippy and Pizza the Hut fell back upon medical excuses to sustain themselves through their eight weeks of glory. Woman Robb dominated e Casanova rankings, Mrs. Estrogen proved too aloof for proper sphincter control, the Schnook single-handedly dropped the House G.P.A. by an entire integer, Spulch (against uch popular protest) did not give up religion for Lent, Private Pyle volunteered his ex-girlfriend as a personal flotation device, Cressaty continued his reputation as as shifty mey by butchering his leadership role in the botched Vail kidnapping, Hagan said something around week five, Greg Looseanus terrorized the highway travelers of the Eastern aboard, Pet-yor-sak & Milhouse were beaten into bloody masses of broken flesh for being too damn friendly, Metcalf followed Dark Lord Brother Sig into the internal cult of il, and Spiccolli and Bert served the House well with their connections to the Columbian cartels. Though more morally upright and virtuous, they all remain victims of stupidity.

We must offer our most sincere gratitude to our cook, Linda, whose culinary abilities were a source of constant appreciation. Also, Patricia did an outstanding job on the cleaning le and Sue did her house mother part well serving as the Administration's mole in our midst, furthering the Washington & Lee University Politburo's efforts to control us. Doc oliday also made his presence known with frequent appearances at our dinners and galas. Finally, we must curse Sue's dog, Cinnamon, who annoyed the hell out of us and was ly saved when we dissuaded the Lieutenant of Evil from decapitating her and sending her limbs to the four corners of the world.

Sig Ep bids farewell this year to one of its most under accomplished classes ever. Of course, we bid farewell to most of these guys years ago, so the graduation formalities actually ly saw the dramatic exit of six Sig Ep heroes. We wish the graduates good luck in the future: Truit with Medicine, Drew with Law, Beakley with Business, Bestic with Bio, Bradshaw ith Bitterness, and Paul with Corporate Whorring. They were the spine that maintained the house back in the much-fables days of the Lex Eight, and the men we sadly but with uch pride now entrust to the world. Go forth, propogate, and remember your roots here in the halls of 218 East Nelson.

"RED HOT CHI-O! RED HOT CHI-O!"

Proving once again that more is more, Chi Omegas celebrated their 10th birthday at W&L with a year long party.

Burning up the social scene like the hot tamales they are, Chi Omegas proved they could party the hardest and the best with parties like Headbangers' Ball, Anthing for $$$, Cell Block 313, Mardi Gras, our "Let's get lucky!" St. Patty's Day mixer, Back to the Playground, Cinco de Mayo, assorted lawn parties, Margaritaville, Persephone's Gala and White Carnation.

Chi-Os also flaunted their hot bods on many of W&L's athletic teams such as track, volleyball, tennis, basketball, x-country, lacrosse, field hockey and the riding team.

It was impossible not to feel the heat of the Chi O fire on campus. Chi Os ruled in such activities as Peer Counselors, Dorm Counselors/ Resident Assistants, GCF, WIS, Mock Convention, The Trident, The Ring-tum Phi, Student-Faculty Hearing Board, LIFE, SRC, FOC, FLC, SAB, Fancy Dress Steering Committee, Jubilee, Kathekon and Class Leaders.

Despite everything else going on in their lives, red hot Chi Os still managed to smoke the competition in academics with such honors as Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa and Phi Eta Sigma.

Our seniors have been an integral part of our sassy sisterhood. We will miss them dearly and wish them the best of luck in all of their endeavors. Just remember, the sisters of Chi Omega will always have a place right here for you. New initiates and old, we still have that Chi-O look from head to feet.

The Zeta Iota Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta had an exciting 1998-1999 school year. Thetas excelled academically, socially and athletically under the leadershipof President Mandy Stallard and our newest President, Noelle Gamble.

Thetas were everywhere on the W&L campus this year. Theta athletes helped lead the volleyball, soccer, swimming, tennis, and lacrosse teams to vistory. Thetas also held many leadership positions in student groups such as SAB, Mock Convention, Kathekon, Student Recruitment Committee, Fancy Dress Steering Committee, Dorm Counselor Staff, big sisters, small group leaders, and lots more. Theta also had several members initiated into ODK, Phi Beta Kappa, and Phi Eta Sigma.

Thetas also managed to find time to have some fun, too! Our social calendar included tailgates, Twin Stars Ball, Tacky Prom, Kite and Key, Beta Theta Toga Party, Supermixers, and the Spring Formal. Thetas served the community through projects such as the Halloween Witch Watch and the Valentine's Day Rose Sale.

Theta's 1999 Rush snagged 32 fun and awesome girls! We are so excited to have them! As for the Seniors, we love them and will miss them next year as they make the move into the real world. Good luck!

The Zeta tau Chapter of Kappa Delta had an exciting 1998-1999 school year. Under the leadership of President Childs Cantey and the next President, Carson Chambers, our third year on campus was a tremendous success here at Washington and Lee. Kappa Deltas continued to be heavily involved in campus activities, holding leadership positions all around W&L. We had members on the Executive Committee, Dorm Counselor and RA Staff, Kathekon, LIFE, Student Recruitment Committee, Women's Forum, Fancy Dress Steering Committee, Freshman Orientation Committee, FCA, Sophomore Leadership Committee, Mock Convention, General Admission, Jubilee, and many others. We also shined in athletics, participation in lacrosse, tennis, cross country, track, and swimming.

Thanks to the other sororities and fraternities on campus, Kappa Delta's social calender was packed the whole year. We started off the year with our Fall Ball and kept the party going with Tacky Prom, Breakfast of Champions, "Jerry Springer" mixer, Derby Days, Spring Semi-formal, and plenty of other parties, tailgates and mixers. Kappa Deltas also supported the community with our successful '99 Shamrock Project, out second annual 3 on 3 basketball tournament. With the help of more than 75 enthusiastic basketball players, we were able to raise money to support our philanthropies, the National Committee to prevent Child Abuse, the Richmond Children's Hospital and Project Horizon.

The final highlight of the 1998-1999 year was Rush which turned out to be a huge success! We could not be happier with our wonderful Gamma pledge class composed of 35 of the finest women on campus.

Kappa Delta wants to thank everyone who helped make this a awesome year fur us. We also want to welcome our great new initiates and bid a fond farewell to our seniors - Best of Luck - we'll miss you!

The Zeta Tau Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma had a fun and exciting year. Under the outstanding leadership of '98 President Courtney Stovall and '99 President Mary Elizabeth Whipple, the Kappas continued to shine in athletics, academics, leadership, and having fun.

On the hill, Kappas held leadership positions in groups such as the SJC, EC, Class Officers, SAB, Student Recruitment, Kathekon, Dorm Counselor Staff, Jubilee, Fancy Dress, and more, all the while attaining Kappa's highest GPA ever. We were thrilled to have several initiates into ODK, Phi Beta Kappa, and Phi Eta Sigma. Making their mark on the field, Kappas participated in lacrosse, soccer, tennis, cross-country, basketball, swimming, and track.

Kappa's social calendar was once again packed. We enjoyed a number of great events such as Fall Formal, Kite and Key, Monmouth Duo, Kappa Valentines, Anything for Money-Dark Side of the Moon, tailgates, Supermixers, the Foxfield buses, and Spring Formal. Kappas also had a blast lending a hand to the community while making Valentines at the Mayflower, carving pumpkins, and participating in the annual Easter Egg hunt.

1999 brought 34 awesome new pledges! This great group of young new Kappas will definitely have some huge shoes to fill, but seem sure to uphold the strength of the sorority. The seniors will be missed incredibly, and we thank them for all that they have done for Kappa and wish them all the luck in the world.

With corps of receivers, backs, and tight ends, the Generals were poised for a great offensive season. Althou with only five starters returning, things were not so sure with the defense. Under the leadership of captains seni linebacker Brad Baker, senior wide receiver Chas Chastain, tight end David Ritchey and junior quarter ba Christian Batcheller, the team managed to go 4-6 this season. After dropping the first two games the Genera fought back to win against Centre College. Along with the usual stellar performances of Batcheller and Ritche these games showcased the breakout of sophomore running back Marc Watson into a consistent performer. Th next week brought Will Baker his second interception in as many games. The next few weeks brought gre performances by juniors wide receiver J.T. Malatesta and full back Scott Moses. The season ended in a win again Swathmore with the teams best offensive game all season. The end of the season brought 10 nominations to th all ODAC team with quarter back Christian Batcheller, sophomore running back Marc Watson, senior offensi tackle Marc Granger, and sophomore safety Will Baker earning first team honors.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

Captains Elizabeth Richey, Nicole Johnson, and Karen Treese led the generals to another spectacular season. The season started out perfect, literally as the generals did not allow a single goal in the first five games. For the first time they secured the ODAC Championship with a win against Randolph Macon. The team set the record for most goals in a game with 14 against Hollins where Ginny Jernigan tied the W&L record of goals in a game with four. Nicole Johnson and Karen Treese were named third team All-South. Johnson was the first female to do so for four consecutive seasons. She anchored a defense that allowed ten goals in 14 games with eight shutouts. For Treese this was her third nomination. She was the All-Time leading scorer (72) and total points (167).

Suffering from defensive troubles the generals had tough time again this season. The addition of transfer Cha Braley greatly helped the offense. Rich Peterson, Scott Hudson, and Will Ballard were all also consister performers. The defense had trouble maintaining leads and the generals suffered from late comebacks. No on can claim a lack of heart as the team attempted many comebacks of their own that come up short. With a cor returners the generals must wait and hope for next season.

This team was a definite mix of veteran and freshmen with four freshman receiving significant time on the floor. With so many young players it may first be thought that this was a "rebuilding" year. By winning more games in a season than ever before (13) and more ODAC wins (11) than ever before this season was anything but a rebuilding year. Senior Chrissy Burghardt showed leadership all season long. She was honored at the W&L 250th tournament by being named to the All-Tournament team. She also finished the season earning honorable mention for the All ODAC and breaking the 1,000 point mark for her career. Freshman Jessica Mentz earned all ODAC second team honors and Rookie of the year. She broke the school record of points in a game (30) and season (385).

WOMEN'S SWIMMING

The generals returned seven swimmers this season while also adding nine newcomers. Freshman newcomers were expected o immediately contribute to the team as Caitlin FitzRanolph did by winning 2 events in the first meet against Marymount. Returning after a one year sabbatical junior Lauren Beckenbauer contributed greatly. But as in most years the team was ead by Margaret Hohel. She helped the team win the ODAC championship by setting three school and meet records. Despite hese outstanding individual performances the most impressive part about this team was the total team dominance it displayed at times. The generals won every event against Sweet Briar and went 1-2-3 in three events. The season ended with Hohel going to the NCAA tournament. She came in 11th in the 500 free breaking a school record with 5:03.57. She broke nother school record in the 1650 free with 17:35.21 and placed 10th. She also placed 28th in the 200 free.

MEN’S TENNIS

Returning seven letterwinners from last season the generals felt very secure this season. The only questions wer with the doubles because they proposed many partnerships that had never competed together. All expectation were filled as the generals won their fourth straight ODAC title and #2 Kelly Radford, #3 Scott Babka, #4 Rhy James, #5 David Lehman and #6 Andrew Roberts all claimed singles titles. All fears for the double teams wer quitted with #1 Dale Pretila/Babka, #2 James/Radford, and #3 Roberts/Tom Washburn all claiming titles.

n another strong season the generals brought home another ODAC title. By suffering only four regular season oses all season and zero ODAC losses the title was won without question. 11 of their 16 wins came by the generals winning all 9 matches. The biggest win of the season came against Kenyon where Brooke Hartzell defeated the econd ranked player in the nation. The season ended with a quarter final loss in the NCAA tournament. Hartzell ompeted in the singles and also teamed up with Freshman Melissa Hatley to compete in doubles. Hatzell won he intercollegiate tennis association Arthur Ashe sportsmanship/leadership award. Hatley won the Intercolle-iate tennis association Rookie of the year award.

MEN'S LACROSSE

The Generals started the year with high hopes with a preseason rank of seven and attackman Colin Dougherty sophomore midfielder Matt Dugan and sophomore defensman Pete Iwancio being named to the All America Team. BY Blowing a 3-0 lead and a late 8-6 lead the team suffered only one regular season loss in their secon games against Washington. The rest of the season was an offensive onslaught with things like 13 consecutive goal against Dickinson in 14:32. Usually the generals would take the lead early as with 3-0 run in the first 1:32 agains Franklin and Marshal but it did not really matter because even when they started down 2-0 to Lynchburg the ended with a 19-5 win. They defeated Hampton-Sydney to claim the ODAC crown and then proceed to embarras VMI in the Lee-Jackson lacrosse classic. The season ended with Matt Dugan being named the ODAC Player o the year and Coach Jim Stagnitta being named the Coach of the Year. Chris Brown, Pope Hackney, Charli Antrim were all named to the ODAC first team while Pete Iwancio, Colin Dougherty and Bernie Norton al received second team honors. Dugan, Hackney, Iwancio and Antrim also received All-American Honors.

he started the season with a preseason ranking of six and sophomore attack Liz Bordges, junior Goal Keeper inny Jernigan, senior defender Kimmy Lubin and senior defenseman Cory Matte being named to the All-merican team. The mix of overall total team performance and individual performance made for a very exciting eason. Either 6 different people would score like against Denison or individuals would take over as did Katherine iddle and Liz Bordges did against Hollins with each scoring four goals. This season witnessed many great ffensive feats like seven goals against Bridgewater in 19:25 and ending the season against Virginia Wesleyan ith a 21-13 win. The team also had many close heart breaking losses like overcoming a three goal deficit against ranklin and marshal only to lose in overtime. The team found their stride in the ODAC tournament and made all the way to the semifinals before losing to Randolph-Macon.

The season started at Lebanon with Derrick Alford leading the men's team with a second place finish in the 500. In the Bridgewater meet Alford set a meet record in the 8000 meter with a time 16:20.41. Joe Bestic also earned a first place in the 400 hurdles. The Royal Invitational brought Marc Granger a win in the shot put. Taking this momentum, Granger earned first place at the ODAC championship, leading the team to an overall fourth place.

TRACK

Led by Lisa Brennan, the women Generals had another good season. Season highlights include Brennan and Wendy Case coming in first and second in the 1,500 at the Lebanon meet. The season also included the Royal Tournament where Brennan finished first in the 800, Sarah Schmidt second in the javelin, and Amy Calce second in the long jump coming only a half inch short of the W&L record. Schmidt ended the season winning the javelin at the ODAC with Meredith Mlynar coming in second, leading the team to an overall third place.

SPORTS AWARDS

Parker and Treese highlight award ceremony

Mikel Parker (Marietta, Ga./Walton) and Karin Treese (Frederick, Md./Thomas Johnson) headed the list of honorees at the annual Washington and Lee University Athletic Awards Ceremony. Parker and Treese were named the Pres Brown Outstanding Senior Male and Female athletes, respectively.

Parker was a four-year letterwinner and three-year captain in men's soccer for the Generals. He started 67 of 68 career games in the W&L defense and earned First Team All-ODAC honors all four years. This past season, he was named the ODAC and Virginia State Player of the Year.

In addition, Parker is a three-time First Team All-State selection and a four-time member of the All-South Region team, three times as a first team pick. He also earned Third Team All-America honors as a sophomore. Parker tallied four goals and six assists for his career.

Treese earned four letters in soccer, two in lacrosse and two in basketball. She was two-year captain in soccer and either owns or is tied for eight records in the sport including career goals (72), assists (23), and points (167).

Four times, Treese has been named All-ODAC, including three first team selections. She also earned All-South honors three years and was named First Team All-State as a junior and senior.

Treese totaled 10 goals and eight assists as a defensive player for the lacrosse team and scored 165 career points on the basketball team.

In other major awards handed out at the ceremony, senior men's tennis player David Lehman (Belle Meade, N.J./Montgomery) received the William McHenry Scholar-Athlete Award. Lehman carries a grade point average in excess of 3.7 and has been inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. He is a two-time ODAC singles champion, who posted a 43-11 career record at No. 5 and No. 6 singles.

Senior Zeb Mellett (Potomac, Md./Bullis) was named the recipient of the Wink Glasgow Spirit & Sportsmanship Award. Mellett was a captain for the 1999 men's lacrosse team that went 13-2, won the ODAC Championship, and advanced to the NCAA Tournament Quarterfinals.

Volleyball player Lindsay Ruckert (Metairie, La./Sacred Heart) and men's soccer player Paul Wallace (Roanoke, Va./Patrick Henry) were named the Outstanding Freshman Female and Male Athletes. Ruckert earned ODAC Freshman of the Year honors in addition to ODAC Tournament MVP accolades. She was also selected First Team All-ODAC and First Team All-State after leading the team in kills (318) and hitting percentage (.344).

Wallace started all 17 games for the menls soccer team, earning First Team All-ODAC and ODAC Rookie of the Year honors. He was fourth on the team in scoring with three goals and five assists.

Former W&L coach and administrator Dick Miller was honored with the R.E. "Chub" Yeakel Memorial Service Award for his support of W&L athletics. Senior Veronica Langhofer (Bayard, Neb.) received the Lefty Newell Memorial Award for her work assisting the swimming teams and junior Alex McManimen (Rosemont, Pa./Radnor), a wrestler, received the Richard Miller Physical Education Scholarship.

Do not miss the purpose of this life, and do not wait
for circumstances to mold your fate.
In yourself lies destiny, know that you are great.

Love greatly. Hold to universal good-- may these be your aim.
All joys are yours, so put forth your claim.

"Of study took he utmost care and heed.
Not one word spoke he more than
was his need;
And that was said in fullest reverence
And short and quick and full of high good sense.
Thoughts of moral virtue was his speech;
And gladly would he learn, and gladly teach."
